What did a Hunters Hill resident and a union leader have in common in 1971? The safety of a piece of urban bushland...

On Afternoons with James Valentine

The Battlers for Kelly's Bush were afraid of losing about 5 hectares of urban bush to the claims of a property developer. Who did they turn to? Jack Munday from the BLF.

In this tribute to the late Jack Munday James chats to Phil Jenkin, one of Jack's friends and former chair of the Defenders of the Sydney Harbour Foreshore, and Joan Kroll one of the original 13 women who banded together with the union to kick off the green bans.
